

2019 BURNING RIVER 100 SPECTATOR AND CREW INFORMATION GUIDE

Welcome

Welcome and thank you for supporting the participants in the Thirteenth Annual Burning River 100-Mile, 50-Mile Endurance Runs and Relay! The following packet contains all the information that spectators and crew will need to make watching and crewing the race a great success!

After you have completed reading this document, if you have additional questions, the following options are available to you:

- Our web site contains the most current information (www.westernreserveracing.com)
- Check out the Burning River 100 Facebook event - <https://www.facebook.com/events/1018303371711136/>

History

The Cuyahoga River Valley has significant historical value. Many early American Indian tribes took advantage of the fertile valley to raise crops, hunt, and called the valley their home. As part of Connecticut's Western Reserve, the Cuyahoga River served as the western border of the United States. Many of the trails on the course originate from Indian and early settlers. The Cuyahoga River permitted transportation into the interior of the Western Reserve Territory, which led to the construction of the Ohio & Erie Canal. As you run on portions of the Towpath Trail, you will be following the same path the donkeys used to tow canal boats between Cleveland and Akron. Transportation methods continued to advance and the railroad replaced the canal system. The Cuyahoga Valley National Park is the only national park with a train – the Cuyahoga Valley Scenic Railroad. As the river valley continued to be developed, early industrialization led to a demise of the river valley. Yes, the Cuyahoga River has a history of catching on fire. These events are also accredited to helping lead the environmentalist movement of the late 1960's. We are moving forward with wonderful park systems, sustainable farming, and world-class trails. The flames of the Cuyahoga were extinguished long ago. Today, the Cleveland and Akron areas are on fire!

NOTICE – Relay runners are not considered spectators/crew and are only permitted at Relay Exchange Aid Stations (See relay guide for locations), NOT Crew Access areas. Relay teams will be disqualified for violating this rule. Thank you in advance for your understanding.

2019 BURNING RIVER 100 SPECTATOR AND CREW INFORMATION GUIDE

General

- ✓ The best areas for spectators to watch the race and cheer on runners are at mile 50 (Silver Springs) and the 100 mile finish line (HiHo Brewing Company). Both of these areas have abundant parking and bathrooms.
- ✓ There is cell phone service along the majority of the course.
- ✓ Please be prepared for weather, bring in your own snacks and drinks (including water) and even a chair.
- ✓ Please pack out any trash you bring with you. Don't use park or aid station trash cans.
- ✓ Directions to crew access aid station are located at the end of this guide. Though cell service is available, printing out these directions and having a rough plan is always a good idea.
- ✓ Meeting, giving aid to, or cheering on a runner at a NO ACCESS aid station or any location outside of a designated Crew Access area will lead to your favorite runner being disqualified. We don't want that, you don't want that, and your runner especially doesn't want that. Please respect the NO ACCESS areas.
- ✓ Have fun! Bring a cowbell, wear a costume, yell out the names of runners (hint – read their bibs), give out hugs or high fives.

Misc

- ✓ Bath Road between Akron Peninsula Road and Riverview Roads is CLOSED for bridge replacement. This should not impact navigation between Crew Access aid stations but sometimes different navigation systems will guide you different ways and we wanted folks to be aware.

Results/Participant Tracking

- ✓ Overall Participant Results - all race day information including results will be available on our website westernreserveracing.com
- ✓ Live On-Course Participant Tracking - RaceJoy This service received rave reviews last year and we are looking forward to the advantages it offers. This service is included with your race registration. The participant keeps the app running during the race. The app displays the course and gives the participant the ability to know if they are on/off course. It also will notify when the participant enters into an aid station. Spectators can see where the participant is currently located and send messages. As this requires a smartphone, participants will need to make plans to have battery life throughout the event. Portable chargers work well and the Anker brand has worked well for participants in other events. This app does not report participant's times – it is to be used as a tracking device. We see many benefits for the participants, crew, and others that want real-time information on the location of a participant relevant to the course. Down load the free app and have your runner sign up now!

Race Day Communication

- ✓ Please direct race day questions and report drops to br@westernreserveracing.com. This email will be monitored Thursday, July 11th through Wednesday, July 31st.
- ✓ A dispatcher will be available at all times during the race to answer questions or contact race directors as needed. The race day phone number is 330-842-5120. This line will only be in use Thursday, July 25th through Monday, July 29th.
- ✓ We will do our best to update you on race day via

Rules for Crew, Pacers, and Spectators

BR100 utilizes trails in the CVNP, Summit Metro Parks, and City of Stow Parks. Please be courteous and observe all park rules.

- ✓ NO ACCESS Aid Stations – only the participant is permitted in these areas. Crew, family, and spectators supporting participants at these locations are not allowed. Race Directors will disqualify participants if people supporting the participants are at these aid stations. We must enforce this rule due to permitting restrictions and to lessen the impact this event places on our park systems.
- ✓ Spectators and crew are asked to carry out any trash that they bring onto the course. Aid station and park trash cans should not be used by spectators and crew.
- ✓ Participants cannot accept any aid from anyone (crew, family, friend, Santa Claus, moving vehicle, bicycle) beyond 100 feet of a Crew Access Aid Station.
- ✓ Runners receiving aid from crews outside the designated crew access points are subject to disqualification.
- ✓ Crews and spectators must abide by the instructions of the aid station personnel. Runners are responsible for their crew.
- ✓ In case of inclement weather (thunderstorm, tornado) your safety is your own responsibility. Aid stations may be shut down temporarily until the storm passes.
- ✓ Do not exceed park speed limits.
- ✓ No campfires.
- ✓ No camping overnight at aid stations.
- ✓ Vehicle parking only at designated areas.
- ✓ No nailing or stapling on any forest property.
- ✓ DO NOT LITTER – may result in disqualification.
- ✓ Dogs must be on leashes.
- ✓ Children and leashed pets are welcome at Burning River; aid station volunteers are not responsible for them.
- ✓ To insure there is sufficient food and beverages for runners, the crew, including children and pets, are asked NOT to eat/drink from the Aid Station supplies. This includes water.
- ✓ Please clean up after your pets, including on the trail or towpath.

2019 BURNING RIVER 100 SPECTATOR AND CREW INFORMATION GUIDE

Medical

- ✓ IN CASE OF EMERGENCY CALL 9-1-1 and be prepared to communicate your position.
- ✓ We strongly recommend participants, crew and pacers print and carry the following chart containing emergency aid station information. While 911 is always an option, the CVNP recommends calling their emergency numbers first. Their rangers are extremely familiar with the trails and can dispatch responders and emergency vehicles to the precise location of the emergency. All aid stations are also equipped with this information. A printable pdf is available on the Western Reserve Racing website.
